

Roberto Callieri's Biography

Roberto Callieri has a degree in Electrical engineering from the Cagliari University in Italy. He is also (AMP) graduated from the Harvard Business School. He joined Italcementi Group in 1990 as Assistant Plant Manager in various Italian Cement plants and in the following years, until today, he has covered different positions throughout the Group subsidiaries. In 1994 he was in Puerto Rico (USA) as Assistant VP for Operations, he spent two years in the USA subsidiary headquarters as Manufacturing Manager and from there he moved to Canada as Plant Manager of the PICTON plant. In 2000 he was transferred to Turkey as a Technical Director from where, in 2002, he moved to Thailand as Managing Director of the local subsidiary. Since April 2006, he is in Egypt where in July 2006, he was appointed as Managing Director of Suez Cement, Tourah Cement, and Helwan Cement.